Biographies

Jenny is 32 years old. She is the Education Director for the JOBS Project, which demonstrates sustainable energy production. She has a Bachelor's Degree in Education from Appalachian State University. She has previously traveled in Asia, and taught English in South Korea. She would like to visit renewable energy and conservation projects in India, learn about successful community development programs, and experience the history, art, poetry, textiles, fabrics and spices of the country, and meet local artists and craftsmen.
